Corruption Risk Management in the Health Sector: Phase II

Hammamet, Republic of Tunisia

17-19 January 2023

Programme

Overview

In collaboration with the Ministry of Health and the General Directorate for Governance in the Presidency of the Government in the Republic of Tunisia, UNDP organized a specialized training on 'Corruption Risk Management in the Health Sector: Phase II in Hammamet between 17-19 January 2023, in the framework of its Regional Project on Anti-corruption and Integrity in Arab Countries implemented with the support of the Korea International Cooperation Agency (KOICA).

The session aimed at building the capacities of the task force formed to manage this phase. It involved an in-depth presentation of the Sectoral Corruption Risk Management Methodology developed by United Nations Development Programme and ways to implement it in Tunisia's healthcare sector. It also involved a discussion on governance gaps in this field, efforts to address them, as well as practical applications on the mentioned methodology. The session concluded with a discussion on the next steps for Phase II of Sectoral Corruption Risk Management.
