

Specialized session

Tackling Corruption Risks in the Water Sector

Tunis, Republic of Tunisia

10 March 2022

Programme

Overview

As part of its Regional Project on Anti-Corruption and Integrity in Arab Countries \(ACIAC\), the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) is organizing a specialized session on “Tackling Corruption Risks in the Water Sector” in Tunis on 10 March 2022, in cooperation with the General Directorate of Governance and Prevention of Corruption in the Government of Tunisia, the Ministry of Agriculture, Water Resources and Fisheries, and the governance units in the water sector.

The session will be attended by representatives of the General Directorate of Governance and Prevention of Corruption in the Government of Tunisia, representatives of the governance units in the water sector, and representatives of concerned public administrations and institutions, in addition to specialized experts in the field. This session aims to introduce participants to UNDP’s Sectoral Corruption Risk Management Methodology (SCRM), and the good practices and lessons learned from its application, especially in the framework of the previous cooperation between Tunisia and UNDP in managing corruption risks in the health sector. The discussion will be followed by a dialogue on the risks of corruption in the water sector and ways to tackle these risks and practical exercises in small working groups to deepen the knowledge and skills gained during the session.
